

TJ Nathan

TJ moved to the Bay Area from Scottsdale, Arizona where he grew up and went to college. He comes from a great lineage of real estate professionals and prides himself in learning the business through his family. His father is the Managing Broker for Engel & Völkers in Scottsdale and his Uncle, Nate Nathan, founder and president of Nathan & Associates, Inc. is a nationally renowned land broker. TJ has spent most of his life living, breathing, and experiencing the life of an agent. He started in the business working with his father in Scottsdale. After moving to the Bay Area, TJ obtained his California license and has committed himself to excellence in pursuing his passion of real estate.

TJ's drive in all of his endeavors comes from almost 14 years of experience playing hockey. After a very competitive high school career, TJ played Junior hockey in Toronto. The 18 months living in Canada awarded TJ with a multitude of experiences including dedication to his craft and how to be a great teammate and leader to his peers. Collegiately TJ played for one year at Arizona State University where he also studied history. When not working, TJ still plays hockey. His enjoyment of the game continues and helps keep his competitive edge.

TJ's greatest assets to his clients are his understanding of the process of buying or selling a home from his own personal experience, in addition to being able to utilize the latest technologies in marketing and research to provide for all of his clients needs. TJ is a licensed agent in Arizona and California. Bob Nathan

Type to enter text