

Robert Rogers

Real Estate Advisor

Robert comes to Engel & Völkers as a 15 year resident of Arizona. His roots are originally from Louisiana and is a graduate of LSU. Robert has an exceptionally diverse background ranging from being a licensed pilot, a martial arts expert, involved with the Arizona Opera and significant knowledge of the World Wide Web. This broad background has paved the way for his entry into the world of real estate. Working with agents for over a decade on producing top performing web sites has allowed Robert to seamlessly immerse himself into the playing field of Real Estate. Robert has been involved with personal real estate activities for more than 12 years.

Engel and Völkers is excited for Robert to expand his opportunities through the international exposure the company offers. His activities in the opera, involvement with the Seena Magowitz Foundation and an active member of RAPAC offer a broad spectrum to cultivate a promising real estate career. When not selling you can find Robert rowing on Tempe Town Lake, hiking on one of the valleys magnificent trails or honing his photography skills in the Red Rocks of Sedona with his two teenage boys.
